

INTRODUCING X-PAC® RX-LINE:

INCREDIBLY DURABLE.
REMARKABLY clean.™

Designed, literally, from the ground up, our innovative X-Pac® RX 3-layer laminates are made with a 100% post-consumer polyester face fabric, generated from discarded and recycled PET bottles. As with all X-Pac® materials, RX laminates are produced in Dimension-Polyant's in-house facility which, itself, is 100% carbon neutral. X-Pac® RX 3-layer laminates feature distinguishable and recycled X-PLY® fiber reinforcement technology for an innovative, three-layer construction that's rugged, flexible and inherently waterproof. A lighter-weight polyester film backing provides a sleek, technical appearance whether on the trail or in more urban jungles.

BUILT FOR THE LONG HAUL, THE RX-LINE COLLECTION INCLUDES:

RX15

The lightest weight fabric option in the RX-Line, X-Pac® RX15 is 100% climate neutral, contains 100% post-consumer recycled polyester fabric and X-PLY® fiber. X-Pac® RX15 provides an ideal balance of weight and durability.

Dimension-Polyant minimizes its environmental impact by producing the highest quality and long-lasting materials to help keep products out of the landfill. To help consumers identify its 100% climate neutral materials, Dimension-Polyant developed its cleanTEC® seal. Materials carrying the cleanTEC® seal, including the X-Pac® RX-Line, are guaranteed climate neutral and utilize recycled fibers.
